

BRANDT INSECT BAIT

Insect Attractant and Tank Mix Spray Partner

New tool available to growers for the control of Walnut Husk Fly and other fruit flies. BRANDT INSECT BAIT is a corn derived, proteinaceous liquid that enhances the effectiveness of agricultural insecticides. The protein bait acts as a food attractant and its success in an IPM program is based on the immature female fruit flies' need of a protein meal for developing mature eggs.

Features

- Contains plant proteins and sugars that act as a food attractant for female flies based on their need of protein for developing eggs.
- Ideal for attract-and-kill type of applications.
- Economical compared to similar baits and allows for much higher application rates - up to 8 pints per acre.
- Listed on the UC Integrated Pest Management website for walnuts
- Compatible with insecticides commonly used against Walnut Husk Fly and other fruit flies.
- Mixes easily with water and contains ingredients that extend its shelf life.
- Product is based on work done by USDA and industry
- Registered as a spray adjuvant in the state of California.

Compatibility

BRANDT INSECT BAIT is compatible with most insecticides. However, if the desired combination has not been previously used, a compatibility test is recommended. Using BRANDT INSECT BAIT with copper compounds or shortly after an application of copper may reduce effectiveness.
